Matters of Interest to the Intelligencer's Feminine Readers.

FASHIONS, FADS AND FANCIES.

Of Interest to Young and Old, Rich and Poor—Seasonable Fashion Hints and Suggestions for the Housewife. A Little of Everything Served in Choice Bits.

Nearly Perfect.

Her features must be small and fine,
 Her eyes be clear and softly shine,
 Her skin must be of pink and white,
 Unknown to rouge and powder quite.

She must have glossy, silky hair,
 It matters not if dark or fair;
 Her figure must be plump and trim,
 But not too large, waist not too slim.

Her mouth a perfect one must be,
 Her neck the swan's for symmetry;
 Her hands must show the sweetest care,
 Her feet a dainty, slender pair.

In word and act a charm, a grace,
 A hint for life and a shadow,
 The woman thus by nature blessed
 Needs nothing, save to be well dressed.

THANKSGIVING DECORATIONS.

On That Day Make Your House a Sym-phony in Autumn Colors.

New York World.
 Have you decided just how to make your home express, on November 30, your thankfulness for whatever blessings you have obtained or whatever ills you have escaped? Decorations somewhat on the line of those which churches use at the "Harvest" festivals would not be inappropriate.

Go down to the markets where the countrymen come in, if you cannot go out into the woods, and buy largely of red berries and evergreen twigs. From the forest buy chestnut leaves in tawny yellow and dull red berries, bay leaves, asparagus fern and make your country friends send you boxes of bitter-sweet, clematis, red and yellow leaves, frost-bitten vines and the like.

Outline the windows on the inside in the evergreen. Let the chandeliers be draped with asparagus fern. Fill big coarse bowls with bunches of leaves; let blackberry vine, which turns more beautifully than any other vine, be your table decoration, trailing from its glass dish out to each plate. Have big bowls of the rich-hued chrysanthemums and little ones of the red berries on your tables and mantels. Over a picture here and there fasten a spray of colored leaves, or a bunch of red berries. Make everything brilliant with autumn color, and your decorations will be a success.

TOUGH PIECES OF MEAT.
How to Make the Best of a Bad Bargain at the Butcher's.

There are a great many unpromising-looking pieces of meat that make excellent braises and other dishes. But if any one imagines that it is as easy to prepare a tough piece of meat that has abundance of fat and sinews in its make-up as a prime roast, she is mistaken. It requires time and patience to deal with a sinewy piece of beef. If the meat is to be a success as a braise the greater part of the fat and all the sinews must be removed. It is not at all difficult to do this, but it requires patience and a keen-edged knife about the size of a boning knife. Keep the knife near the sinew and scrape it away from the meat on both sides. Continue until all the sinews are removed. A tough piece of round is very much improved by this process. There are so many sinews in the leg that it had best be used for soup, though the patient French cooks very often take the trouble to prepare the cheap meat for stew. These steaks they serve with piquant sauces flavored with tomatoes or mushrooms, so that the whole dish takes on a grand air and is really delightful to eat, while the meat is deliciously tender.

A Fur Season.
 This is to be a "fur season." Fur on everything—party dresses, tea-gowns, wraps—is in style. The butterfly cape is one of the season's novelties. It is plaited over the shoulders and has a turn-down collar. We are to have short coats this winter, and those that simply encircle the neck, showing the head of the animal, are so arranged that they have but one falling end. The particular craze is for ermine, and lucky is the woman who can go to an old trunk and take out an ermine cape of her mother's or grandmother's, for she can wear it down the street without the least alteration. Even in millinery sable tails are utilized, being previously wired and made to stand upright wherever they are wanted on hats and bonnets. A new fur is called caracole, or bitt lamb. It is a species of Astrakhan, taken from the Persian lamb in extreme youth. It is satin-like and very flexible.

Creamy Sauce.
 One-half cup of butter, one-half cup of powdered sugar, one-quarter cup of cream, juice and rind of one lemon. Beat the butter to a cream and add the sugar gradually, beating all the while. When very light and creamy, add the cream, a little at a time. Now place the bowl in a basin of boiling water, and stir until the sauce is smooth and creamy, no longer. It will only take a few minutes. Add lemon and serve.

Silk Meshed Net.
 All gowns are to be developed in silk meshed net this season. And such exquisite net as it is! One piece, which sells at $10 for a lounce, is hand embroidered in velvet beads. Imagine this over a white silk dress with violet velvet sleeves. Another new net, less expensive, for it sells for $2.75 a yard, is in white, embroidered in tiny green beads. Still another design shown as a late novelty is of ecrú net with a border of inserted black gauze four-leaf clovers.

Baked Macaroni.
 One-quarter pound of macaroni, one-quarter pound of grated cheese, one-half cup cream, one tablespoonful of butter, salt and pepper. Break the macaroni in convenient lengths, put it in a two-quart kettle and nearly fill the kettle with boiling water, add a teaspoonful of salt and boil rapidly twenty-five minutes (the rapid boiling prevents the macaroni from sticking together), drain in a colander, then throw into cold water to blanch for ten minutes, then drain again in the colander. Put a layer of macaroni in the bottom of a baking dish, then a layer of cheese, then another layer of macaroni, and so continue until all is used, having the last layer macaroni. Cut the butter in small bits, distribute them evenly over the top, add the cream and bake until a golden brown (about twenty minutes) in a moderately quick oven. Serve in the dish in which it was baked.

Taffy.
 One-half pint of salt water, three ounces of butter, one-half teaspoonful of lemon juice, two teaspoonfuls of vanilla, one and one-half pounds of sugar (confectioners'). Stir the water and sugar over the fire until the sugar is dissolved, and then boil until it ar-rises at the ball stage; that is, when a small quantity cooled in water and rolled between the thumb and finger forms a soft ball. Now add the butter and lemon juice and boil to the "crack," that is, when it hardens quickly when dropped into cold water and will not stick to the teeth. Add the vanilla and turn out in greased shallow pans to cool.

New Collarets.
 Among the novelties for evening wear are collarets of black "footing," edged with white inserting. They are about ten inches deep with double ruffles around the neck.

Marriage in Olden Times.
 It is usually considered a noteworthy circumstance for a man or a woman to be married three times, but in olden times the number would have been little thought of. St. Jerome mentions a widow who had married her twenty-second husband, who in his turn had been married to twenty-two wives. A woman named Elizabeth Mast, who died at Florence in 1708, had been married to seven husbands, all of whom she outlived. She married the last of the seven at the age of seventy. When on her death-bed she recalled the good and bad traits of each of her husbands, and, having impartially weighed them in the balance, she singled out her fifth spouse as the favorite, and desired her remains might be interred near his.

Bellaire.
 All Sorts of Local News and Gossip from the Glass City.

The Ohio food commissioner has analyzed a lot of preserves and jellies in this state that do not now the least particles of the fruits they are labeled to be made from. For instance a "strawberry jelly" found was made from apple parings and glucose. This sort of business is not confined to any one establishment, but extends to many.

J. C. Myers is the only Democrat from this city or township who so far has passed the civil service examination. There are candidates for postmaster here who cannot stand half an examination under the civil service rules. Congressman Pearson knows them.

The rates of insurance have been increased here by reason of the report of a representative of the National Underwriters' Association. They were too high before. It costs from 3 to 5 per cent to carry insurance on some establishments here now.

Glennalvin, the ball player from Chicago, was here yesterday and signed Billy George to play with Toronto next season. Perk Kennedy is on the Brooklyn reserve list. He has his figures fixed as high as $5,000 for next season.

Charles Edwards and Frank Smith, two tramps who stole tools from Hill's machine shop in Bridgeport, to the amount of $30, were convicted and sentenced to two and a half years each in the Ohio penitentiary.

Glass workers here can have the lantern globe works started up on terms by which they can make over $50 a week more than they ever made in that factory, but they seem to take hold of the project slowly.

It is understood Dr. S. T. Satterthwaite and wife, who left here a few years ago and have been living in North Dakota ever since, will return on account of the failing health of Mrs. Satterthwaite.

Roderfer Bros. have some good orders and there is every indication they can run their factory full for the next six weeks, till the holidays. The market seems bare of all kinds of goods.

James M. Sheriff, of Cadiz, and Miss Ella Webster, the accomplished daughter of Dr. J. V. Webster, were married at the home of the bride's parents, at Flushing, yesterday.

Rev. D. W. Chandler and family are spending this week with Detroit friends and will be gone about ten days. Rev. J. H. Rogers will fill his pulpit next Sunday.

Bellaire pays $13,000 a year for her street paving and sewer improvements. No money ever spent in a public way here was so well spent.

Dputy Auditor James B. Ryan and County Commissioners Mechem, Hart and Bailey were in town yesterday on official business.

Judge Isaac H. Gaston was drawn as a United States juror to report at Columbus December 4.

Civil Engineer Norton got out yesterday after a week's tussle with the grip.

How to Tell a Good Whiskey.
 How many people can tell a good whiskey from an inferior one? Can you? If you can, then you already know the merits of Klein's Silver Age, Duquesne and Bear Creek Ryes, and if you cannot, then you must be governed by the testimonials of physicians, superintendents of hospitals and connoisseurs, who all unite in declaring that the whiskeys bottled by Max Klein of Allegheny, Pa., are absolutely pure, old and mellow. A reliable stimulant in the house at this time of the year is an absolute necessity, and why not get the best in the country? Send for catalogue of liquors to Max Klein, Allegheny, Pa. FINANCE AND TRADE.

The Features of the Money and Stock Markets.

New York, Nov. 22.—Money on call easy at 1 1/4 per cent; last loan 1 per cent; closed at 1 per cent. Prime mercantile paper 64 per cent. Sterling exchange dull at $1.82 1/2. Sales, 300,000 shares.

The volume of business on the stock exchange today was larger than on Tuesday, and was better distributed throughout the list. The commission houses had good buying orders not only in the active stocks, but also in the shares which are usually dormant. The main weak spot in the market was General Electric, in which there was a pronounced pressure to sell during the last hour of business, closing near a decided percentage below the opening. The day's deal in it, was rather erratic in its movements. The general market was strong at the opening, and prices were 3/4 per cent higher, but speculation quickly checked at the time of speculation, causing a slight reaction. Before any serious losses were made a number of buying orders, some of them from the west, came in, which sent the figures up again. During the last half hour the market was heavy. Although the market closed with prices on the downward track, this tendency was due only to efforts to realize and compared with yesterday's close the final sales were at higher prices for a majority of the shares traded in, the range being 3/4 per cent. Railway bonds were very strong and extremely active.

Government and state bonds dull.

Chicago, Nov. 22.—On right northwestern receipts, a decrease in the supply of Europe which had in store and heavy buying by Partridge, went advanced to-day, closing 3/4 higher for December and 5/8 higher for May than yesterday's closing figure.

Corn was heavy and closed at a decline of about 1/4.
 Oats dull and lower.
 Provisions stronger after a weak opening.
